PALLCON ACQUIRED BY INTEPLAST GROUP

Plastics pallet provider will continue to supply high quality options for customers

LIVINGSTON, NJ – April 23, 2018 – PallCon Services, a pallet provider company has been acquired by Inteplast Group and is now headquartered in Livingston, New Jersey. The company officially joined Inteplast Group on December 31, 2017, and has since operated as part of the Sustainable Packaging business unit throughout the first quarter of 2018.

Established in 2003 PallCon provides customers with high quality recyclable plastic pallets. In addition, customizable and repurchase pallet programs are available to customers. Industries served span beverage, food processing, and industrial, the latter of which encompasses, retail clothing, chemical processing, and agricultural applications.

Sustainable Packaging Project Manager Dr. Yaw Kuen Lin noted that PallCon's developments will continue to integrate innovation and sustainable options for customers.

"The future of PallCon is a promising one and many potential customers in the pipeline. Unfortunately, wooden pallets have limitations and resources are depleted as a result of their usage. Many customers who have used wooden pallets have converted to plastics options. In the beverage and food industries, customers naturally gravitate toward plastic pallets because of the hygienic benefits. They are easier to clean due to lower bacteria and insect infestation, and so although plastic pallets are initially a higher investment, they eventually are the cost-efficient choice in the long run," he said.
